MEREDITH LAMBE NAMED CEO OF LIFESPAN RESOURCES

Meredith Lambe from Louisville has been named Chief Operating Officer (CEO) of LifeSpan Resources, the state designated area agency on aging for Clark, Floyd, Harrison, and Scott counties, effective January 6, 2025. Lambe replaces outgoing CEO Lora Clark, who announced her retirement effective in March of 2025. Clark has presided over the agency, which serves older adults and individuals with disabilities, for the past seven years.

The Reverend Tony Toran, President of the LifeSpan Resources Board of Directors, said the appointment of Lambe followed an extensive search to find a new leader with broad non-profit experience. “We feel fortunate to have found that in Lambe. She brings a wealth of experience and passion for human services to this role. With over 20 years of non-profit experience, she has a deep understanding of the opportunities and challenges of non-profits. She has also served on various boards in the New Albany and Louisville area, further demonstrating her commitment to community impact and collaboration.”

Most recently, Lambe served as President of the Being for Others Health and Wellness Foundation based in Jasper. She has also served as Director of Development for the Foundation for the Accreditation of Cellular Therapy and was the Executive Director of the Floyd Memorial Foundation for ten years. She is a 2015 Discover graduate with Leadership Southern Indiana and has a long record of service with community organizations including the Homeless Coalition of Southern Indiana and the Rotary Club of New Albany.

Lambe holds a Masters degree in Public Administration from the University of Louisville and a Bachelor of Arts in Communications and Public Relations from the University of Kentucky. She said, “I look forward to beginning my new role with LifeSpan Resources, a non-profit with a life-changing presence in the southern Indiana community. The agency’s mission of promoting independent living for people of all ages resonates deeply with me, as I have cared for elderly relatives and worked on behalf of individuals with disabilities. I plan to use my extensive experience in fundraising to drive expansion of revenue and donor engagement in support of this important mission.”

Outgoing CEO Lora Clark said, “Over the coming months, Meredith will begin moving into her role and will work closely with our executive team, the board of directors, and key state stakeholders to ensure a seamless transition. She is eager to meet our amazing staff, learn more about the important work we do in the community, and build on our strong foundation of 50-plus years serving southern Indiana residents.” Clark added, “I am grateful to our board for the trust and support they have shown me over the years, and to be part of such an exceptional team at LifeSpan Resources. I am thrilled at the selection of Meredith Lambe and wish her much success as she begins her new journey.”
